

Abstract: Characteristics and Attributes of Effective Leaders

School psychologists are required to assume a leadership position within the schools. This presentation will address the characteristics needed to substantiate your position as a leader, whether you are running a meeting, or advocating for better working conditions. There are specific strategies which can increase our effectiveness and the opportunity to enhance our profession within the schools. This leadership section will address the physical characteristics needed and assertiveness skills that healthy, strong leaders clearly display.